

Russia Forming

by the deputy American military governor:

Gen. George Haig termed "ridiculous" the Soviet argument that the East-West safety corridor was "totally invalid" because it never had been ratified by the Allied control council.

The American-controlled newspaper Deutsches Presse reported armed Russian troops had appeared with Soviet sector police during the past 30 hours at the border between the eastern and western sectors of Berlin. But it apparently was only a temporary measure because they were quickly withdrawn.

The Russian soldiers carried automatic pistols. They checked pedestrian and vehicular traffic and took the names of persons carrying Western newspapers. Food and Western money were confiscated by them.

The British-controlled news agency IWD reported that western Berliners arrested in the Soviet zone in identification checks were being closely questioned by the MVD (Soviet Secret Police) on their political affiliations.

The Soviet notice of withdrawal from the four-power agreement on air safety regulations hinted darkly that any "air accidents" from now on would be the fault of the Americans and British because they refuse to take orders from the Russians on how and when to fly their planes.

American and British officials said the Russian action didn't make much real difference, because the Russians have been menacing the air corridors with all sorts of air maneuvers for weeks.

Russian violation of the agreement, according to the Soviet News Bureau, contended that it never had been ratified by the four-power control council and therefore was invalid.

Air Commodore Rex Waite, senior RAF officer in Berlin, said it was true the agreement was not ratified by the control council.

"It did not have to be, since it was left to the four-power air directorate to settle," he said. "The document still stands and no Southern Air Force can make any difference."

The Soviet notice, delivered to the Berlin air safety center, claimed that the agreement "was still pending."

"Soviet authorities insist for maintenance of air safety on strict observation of air discipline by British and American planes and on complete schedules of all flying over the Soviet zone," the document said.

"If these demands are not being met, responsibility for any air accident in the air corridors must rest entirely with British and American air authorities."

The Soviet notification was sent in response to Anglo-American protests that Russian air maneuvers near the corridors violated the four-power agreement.

No Verdict Is Reached in Murder Trial

Rison, Oct. 27 — (UP) — A Cleveland Circuit court jury failed today to reach a verdict in the murder trial of Robert Walker, and the case was recessed until Dec. 7.

The 27-year-old man was charged with the knife slaying last July 3 of Studebaker Jewel Johnson, 21, of Pine Bluff, who admitted cutting Johnson, but admitted engaging in a free-for-all fight with him and several other men.

Another witness, however, said Walker attacked the victim with a knife.

A CIO unionist strategy of displaying its power with a four-hour stoppage mistimed yesterday. Several thousand of 8,500 workers who walked out refused to start buses home on the seven privately operated lines.

However, many were returning today.

An immediate issue was a struggle for power between left and right wing leaders of the powerful CIO Transport Workers Union.

This was the situation in mid-morning:

All buses were moving in the Bronx.

In suburban Westchester county service on all trolleys and buses of the Third Ave. transit system was reported near normal. However, service by the same line was suspended in Manhattan.

In Manhattan the Fifth Ave. Coach Co. extended normal service by noon. Heavily loaded buses moved on the city's well-known avenue during the morning rush hour. The situation with the two other companies involved—New York City Omnibus Corp. and Avenue B and East Broadway Transit Co.—was uneven.

The four-hour stoppage yesterday was ordered by TWU International president and City Councilman Michael J. Quill and his supporters. They sought to show the state Public Service Commission that private bus lines in a demand for payment of back wages.

The retroactive payments to last May 1 totaling $5,000,000 were agreed to by union and management under Mayor William O'Dwyer's mediation. Average roughly $200 per man.

The agreement resulted in a 24 cents an hour wage increase, raising pay to an average of $1.44 an hour. The companies were granted a one-cent interim fare increase to help pay for it.

To raise the retroactive pay demands the companies claim they are entitled to eight cents instead of the present interim six cents on the basis of the interim 12 cents on the First Avenue line.

After a dramatic appeal by the mayor to the demonstrators in the shadow of the Woolworth building yesterday, Quill ordered the men back to work.

Many agreed. But to Quill's strategy of blinding power another TWU faction rallied with a counter-strategy of refusing to return to work.

Lender of the counterfaction is Jason Hogan, president of the union's local 100, whom Quill accused of being a "leftist influence."

Through the night and into the day the two sides presented their cases of statements and testimony of their factions. All claims of the number of men working today were denied by the opposing side.

New Yorkers debated the truth of the situation for them lay in the reality of whether they could get a bus.

The city public service was operating at full capacity to relieve surface loads.

Common Causes

In one study of chronic fatigue, the most common causes were found to be chronic infections, diabetes, heart disease, severe anemia, tuberculosis, vitamin deficiencies, low blood pressure, and low metabolism were among the other causes which were discovered.

When such definite physical conditions can be found, the treatment is clear to correct the abnormality as rapidly as possible.

The proper balance between work, relaxation and sleep has to be worked out. Change of environment usually does not succeed.

Many people need to learn how to relax when they have the chance.

The adoption of a balanced diet with plenty of vitamins is beneficial. The stimulating drugs are dangerous and should not be used unless under the advice of a physician.

Those who are abnormally tired should first review and study the kind of life they are leading to make sure that they cannot solve the problem by simple readjustments. If this cannot be done then the services of a physician is indicated. If there is in there is some physical cause, or if not, whether general advice can be given which will improve the situation.

QUESTIONBOX: Is a blood sugar report of 220 mg. bad before breakfast, good on bad?

ANSWER: This is a high blood sugar level and the sugars are high. It suggests the presence of diabetes. Other tests and studies, however, are necessary.

He studied his own reflection with despair and heard Duncan's voice.

"Yes, you've changed."

"We know what we do," Don Jose replied in a flat, bitter tone.

"All these months I've been saying to myself — I am not Jose de Navarro. I'm not a deserter. I'm not a robber. I'm not a murderer. I am Don Jose Lizarabengoa, a well-bred, well-behaved young man with a bright future who for the moment is playing at being a highwayman because he loves Carmen." He threw the mirror down. "But it isn't true. I'm no longer Don Jose. We became what we are, don Jose de Navarro. I'm just as cruel and ugly now, hard as Goren was."

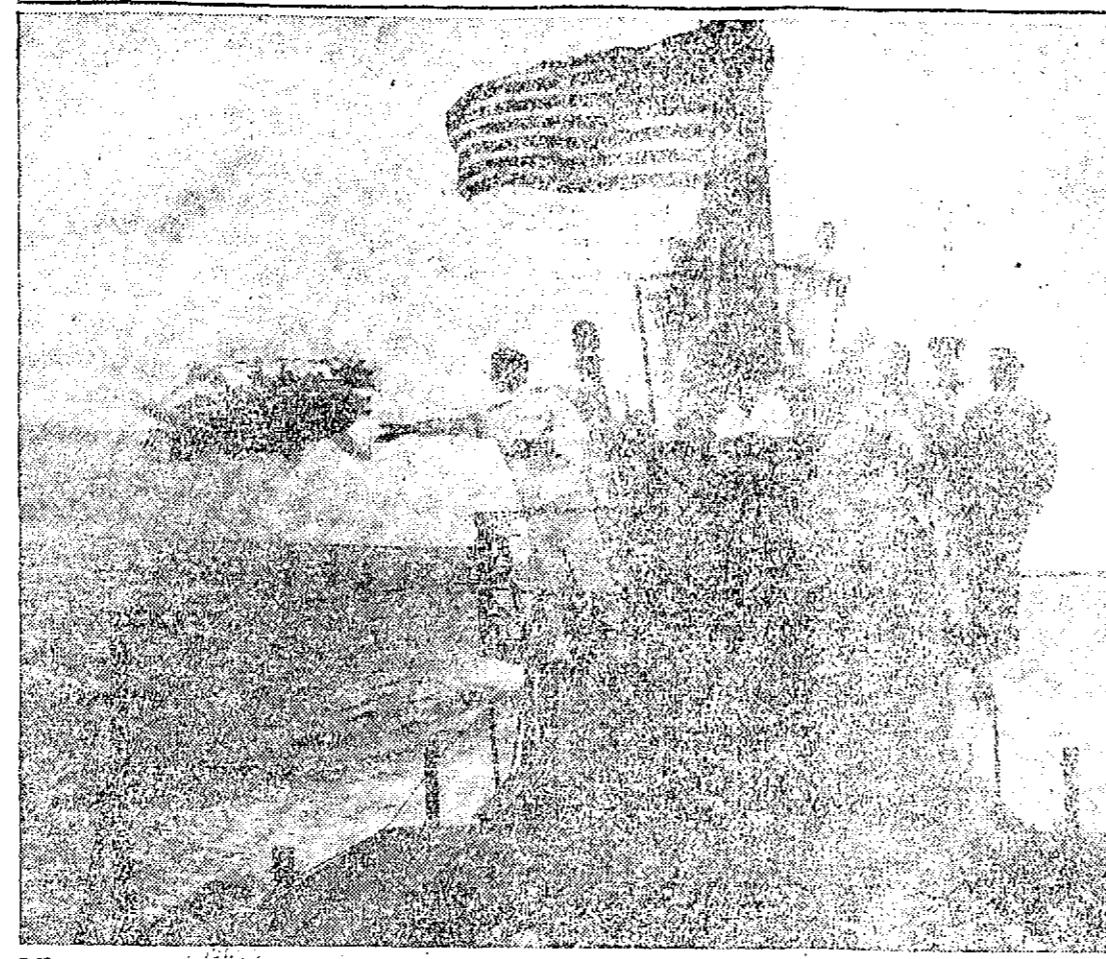

Duncan looked at him pityingly. "No, you're worse. Because you have a conscience. The only really wicked men I've ever known are those who started as良知の失った。 That's what depravity feeds on. Illusions and idealism and love gone wrong."

Police came into the cave. His manner was furtive and strangely eager. "I have news for you, Navarro," he said. "You've nothing to worry about. Carmen's having a good time like I thought. I know where she is and who she's taken up with?"

Don Jose stood still, waiting for the whole story.

"You heard her mention Lucas, the matador? He has a fine house in the street of the Bejar and every afternoon they are together at the Corral de la Plaza." Pablo looked at him sideways.

Second building in the present construction program is a chapel and fine arts building for which plans are still being formulated.

A CIO unionist strategy of displaying its power with a four-hour stoppage mistimed yesterday. Several thousand of 8,500 workers who walked out refused to start buses home on the seven privately operated lines.

However, many were returning today.

An immediate issue was a struggle for power between left and right wing leaders of the powerful CIO Transport Workers Union.

This was the situation in mid-morning:

All buses were moving in the Bronx.

In suburban Westchester county service on all trolleys and buses of the Third Ave. transit system was reported near normal. However, service by the same line was suspended in Manhattan.

In Manhattan the Fifth Ave. Coach Co. extended normal service by noon. Heavily loaded buses moved on the city's well-known avenue during the morning rush hour. The situation with the two other companies involved—New York City Omnibus Corp. and Avenue B and East Broadway Transit Co.—was uneven.

The four-hour stoppage yesterday was ordered by TWU International president and City Councilman Michael J. Quill and his supporters. They sought to show the state Public Service Commission that private bus lines in a demand for payment of back wages.

The retroactive payments to last May 1 totaling $5,000,000 were agreed to by union and management under Mayor William O'Dwyer's mediation. Average roughly $200 per man.

The agreement resulted in a 24 cents an hour wage increase, raising pay to an average of $1.44 an hour. The companies were granted a one-cent interim fare increase to help pay for it.

To raise the retroactive pay demands the companies claim they are entitled to eight cents instead of the present interim six cents on the basis of the interim 12 cents on the First Avenue line.

After a dramatic appeal by the mayor to the demonstrators in the shadow of the Woolworth building yesterday, Quill ordered the men back to work.

Many agreed. But to Quill's strategy of blinding power another TWU faction rallied with a counter-strategy of refusing to return to work.

Lender of the counterfaction is Jason Hogan, president of the union's local 100, whom Quill accused of being a "leftist influence."

Through the night and into the day the two sides presented their cases of

Wife of Author to Be Questioned in Slaying

Reno, Nev., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Gwyn Conger Steinbeck estranged wife of Novelist John Steinbeck will be summoned to an inquest Thursday in the death of Leonard L. Wolff, 28, authorities said today. The body of Wolff, World War I hero and son of a wealthy Denver businessman, was found on the desert beach early Saturday with a bullet wound in the head. District Attorney Harold O. Tabor said Wolff had lost approximately $6,000 at blackjack a few hours earlier.

Recently Robert E. Sherwood has edited the "Private Papers" of Harry Hopkins which are now issued as another book of the formidable shelf of memoirs and body-snatchings which are compulsory reading for anyone who would like to know what these audacious schemers were plotting against the people of the United States. Sherwood has written some plays ranging in quality from good to not so good and Roosevelt took him into the White House as one of his phrase-makers. In the records of Roosevelt's speeches as compared with Winston Churchill's or even with the uncouth frankness of the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith who has been gagged these last ten years in a historic political suppression Sherwood must be a very drab operator in the bad boy business.

They also know that games are won in the field and not on publicity. Captain Sam Westbrook's return to the lineup will help but Wesley Hudspeth, James McGaugh and Roger Neal are nursing injuries.

Hope fans are beginning to have a lot of faith in their Bobcats and from 500 to 1,000 will journey to Hot Springs to give them moral support.

Meanwhile the Bobcats were preparing to take on Joe Dildy's Hot Springs Tiarans in an intersectional affair that would give the Spy boys a lot of prestige if they could upset the Bobcats.

Glowing reports from other sections could have the Bobcats really primed for the killing. But the boys know Dildy, he used to coach them, and they know he fields a team to win ball games despite all odds and past performances.

Tomorrow night at Hammon's field the Yerger Tigers will tangle with an ancient foe, Lincoln High of Canfield in a contest that is expected to be close all the way.

Yerger will be trying to keep its record clean in state competition. Rough work is ahead for the Tigers now as in all practice sessions the week in.

Tickets are now on sale. The game has been called for 8 o'clock, and a large crowd is expected.

By FRANK H. BARTHOLMEW Sonoma, Calif., Oct. 26.—(UP)—Russia is attempting a gigantic bluff against the United States and the Western Allies but is not ready to fight, doesn't want to fight and won't fight if he is called, General H. H. (Hap) Arnold told the United Press today.

"I've been away from Washington now for a couple of years and it may be slightly off the beam, but that's my considered opinion," he said.

Arnold was asked what positive stop the Western Allies might take in the present situation.

"Why not a motor convoy and push it through the corridor to Berlin?" he replied. "Perhaps we might have learned something from George Patton's technique. He was running the show he would take it through."

Asked what the Russians would do if an armed Allied convoy did push through to Berlin, Arnold replied— "Not much if anything."

Arnold, now technically retired and raising white-faced cattle on his Rancho El Fezal in California's Valley of the Moon, still maintains his office at the nearby Hamilton Field air force installation.

"We need today the same courage of conviction we had when we marched in to Berlin," the white-haired, smooth-faced general said.

"It would be a grave and basic error to let the Communists bluff us out in the present deadlock in Germany."

"They are not ready to fight and they do not want to fight. We should curb the national tendency to be in awe of the Russians, an awe amounting almost to fear. If our people will take the time coolly to analyze what Russia does and does not possess militarily, America will be greatly heartened.

"Of course, it's easy to fight and against the fence rail here in California and call me a shot to what we should do and should not do on the other side of the world. I may be 100 per cent wrong. But if I did have direct experience with the Russians under combat conditions throughout the war and that extent I base my personal opinion and conclusions upon fact."

"The only American in the post-war world to tell the Russians where to get off and make them like it is MacArthur in Tokyo."

Progress Is Made in Oil Strike

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 26 —(UP)— Sheriff Jimmie Thompson said today he was holding a former city policeman for investigation in connection with the alleged rape of a sailor's wife here last week.

The woman said she was picked up on a street corner by a man who represented himself as a policeman, then was driven into the country and raped. No charges have been filed against the man.

CIO unions resumed on three fronts as Murray dispatched a letter to CIO unions throughout the nation.

Los Angeles, Oct. 26 —(UPI)— Some signs of progress loomed in the West Coast strike going into its 52nd day. But CIO President Philip Murray urged all member unions to rally behind the oil workers.

Negotiations were resumed on three fronts as Murray dispatched a letter to CIO unions throughout the nation.

The Presbyterian choir will practice at the church Wednesday evening at 7:15.

There will be choir practice at Central Baptist church at 7 p.m. with prayer services at 8 o'clock.

The choir of the Methodist church will meet Wednesday evening at the church at 7:30 for practice.

There will be an officers and members meeting at First Baptist church at 6:45 p.m. Prayer service at 7:30 and choir practice will follow at 8:15 p.m.

A Training Union Course is being given at the church Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. Choir practice will follow.

CIO unions to "extend every possible moral and financial aid to the oil workers."

Meanwhile, negotiations continued between the Union and Shell Oil Co. at San Francisco, and with Standard Oil officials at El Segundo. Talks were also to be reopened at the Texas Company plant here.

Prospects for settlement of the strike, involving six major companies, "are more hopeful now than since it began," the governor's council was told at Sacramento by Paul Schatz, state director of industrial relations.

Negotiations center around the issue of retiring strikers accused of violence and the heavy damage suits filed by companies against the union.

A. O. Knight, head of the union, has said it is willing to accept the 12 1/2 cent wage increase offered by the companies.

After 21 strikers were arrested on violence charges in the San Francisco area yesterday, Knight offered to provide squads of his own men as police aids in an effort to end outbreaks.

Richmond, Calif., police turned down the offer.

Violence against non-strikers and asserted damage at refineries led the oil companies to file damage suits against the union. CIO negotiators now want the suits dropped as a condition of settlement.

The October meeting of the Redland Demonstration Club was called to order by Mrs. Terrell Bierne, president. There was scripture reading by Mrs. Clyde Grisham and prayer by Mrs. Tom Bierne.

Ten members were present and the group sang "America" after which Miss Nolen gave a demonstration on the uses and saving of fuel and time by using a cooker giving information on foods that can be cooked in them.

It's Circus Day in Hope

Kingsville, and within its confines are spoken no less than 18 languages and dialects. It is a city of many tongues and endless menders. King Bros. will exhibit in Hope Wednesday, October 27, Shirley-Crews Show Grounds.

To move their tented enterprise over the country, King Bros. employ a company of 120 men and drivers and interpreters depending upon the grades to be overcome by the motive power. One convoy is used to haul the menagerie. Another carries the portable stage, costumes, special scenery and electrical apparatus used in this season's colossal spectacle.

King Bros. Circus represents an investment of $300,000 with a daily expense of $3,270. Large, as the name may seem, is easily understood. Expenses are computed at $4,000 to $10,000 according to their ability to perform, and trained horses at an average of $1,000 each. The feeding of the menagerie and the people of this great circus is an item of expense which only hundreds of dollars and perfect system can accomplish.

The headquarters battery at Fayetteville will be increased from 101 to 128 officers and men.

The big show will start promptly at 2 and 8 p.m. on account of its length. The King Bros. Circus came last year returned to America after a five year triumphal tour of South America.

On the throne in the House of Lords the king wore his crown and robes of state for the first time in 10 years.

Foreshadowing a bitter fight on steel nationalization, which Winston Churchill's conservatives have opposed, the king announced:

"A measure will be laid before you to bring under public ownership those companies extensively engaged in the production of iron ore, or of pig iron or steel, or in shaping of steel by the rolling process."

That was all the king said on steel, but he spoke as the mouthpiece of the labor government and that means that his reference to the measure was a call for its enactment. His speech was written for him, according to custom, by his ministers.

He said also "you will be asked to consider proposals for making legal aid and advice more readily available to persons of small or moderate means."

Some lawyers fear the latter proposal will amount to "nationalizing" the legal profession.

Drought Cause of Fires Says State Forester

Little Rock, Oct. 26 —(AP)— Arkansas Forester Fred Lang said today the current drought had caused the most hazardous fire condition in state forests in five years.

He said that 764 acres of timber had been lost in 117 separate fires in the last three days.

"For the past three weeks a condition has been developing which could spell destruction for great portions of our timber," Lang said.

He added he dreaded to think what would happen should a wind spell develop in the state.

The forester said because of atmospheric haze many towers of the forestry division had been virtually useless in detecting fires. Rangers are now patrolling forest areas in radio-equipped planes.

Lang said the critical situation would continue until there is a general rainfall.

He urged farmers, hunters and others to use extreme caution to avoid setting fires accidentally.

King George Reopens Parliament

London, Oct. 26 —(AP)— King George VI opened the session of parliament amid ancient pomp today and called for the nationalization of Britain's steel industry.

Britain's labor government already has nationalized such industries as coal mining, transport and aviation. Owners of holdings in those industries were paid off in government securities giving about the same incomes.

Thousands of spectators stood in a drizzling rain to watch the monarch and Queen Elizabeth drive in a state coach from Buckingham Palace to the Houses of Parliament to open the crucial session.

Before dawn crowds gathered at the palace to get a close view of the household cavalry, in full dress uniform which escorted the royal couple.

On the throne in the House of Lords the king wore his crown and robes of state for the first time in 10 years.
